Judge Waddill Receives Petition Relating to Passenger and Power Company.

PROCEED WITH INVENTORY

Messrs. Winthrop and Wickham Hold Undisturbed Tenure of the Property.

In response to the order of Judge Edmund Waddill, Judge of the United States Circuit Court, in the matter of the Bowling Green Trust Company, trustee, vs. the Virginia Passenger and Power Company, the Richmond Passenger and Power Company and the Richmond Traction Company, requiring the railway companies to show cause why the receivership should not be made permanent, and why the injunction in connection therewith should not be perpetuated, the attorneys for the parties appeared yesterday before that court.

Louis E. Spencer, Ella K. Perrin, executor of David Perrin, and N. Winslow Williams also appeared by their attorneys and offered a petition, praying that they may be permitted to intervene and become parties defendant to this cause and be permitted to show cause why the temporary restraining order granted July 15th, and the receivers appointed by said order, should not be made permanent, and for other relief as set out in said petition, and asking leave to file said petition. To the filing of such petition the plaintiff objected.

NEW MAYOR IN OFFICE

Music, Flowers and Congratulations for Captain McCarthy.

TAYLOR WAS NOT PRESENT

Large Crowd Cheer and Welcome New Executive and Wish Him Well.

In the presence of perhaps more representative citizens than have gathered in the reception room of the Mayor's office at any one time since the City Hall was built, Captain Carlton McCarthy assumed his duties as Richmond's chief executive at noon on yesterday, and was kept busy receiving business men, city officials and citizens generally for several hours thereafter.

And all this was in the face of repeated statements that there would be no formal ceremonies attending the induction of the new Mayor into office. It is altogether probable that had any fixed programme been arranged the hall would not have held those who would have come to shake the hand of the new Mayor and to wish him well in his broader field of civic usefulness.

Following in the footsteps of Mayor Moss, of Newport News, Mayor Taylor did not come down, but simply left the key in his desk for his successor.

Was a Surprise.
The ovation given Mayor McCarthy by his fellow-citizens was a complete surprise to him, and the apparent genuineness of the congratulations offered by the crowd, the hearty nature of which he held by the community.

Some men who fought him hardest in the primary were among the first to offer him a word of good cheer. One of these was Alderman W. H. Zimmerman, who gave the new executive a hearty hand-grasp and wished him a successful administration.

Said a prominent lawyer and lifelong friend: "Carlton, this is something which I have hardly dared to hope, but it means a great deal for our dear old city."

Forced to Speak.
Captain McCarthy bore it all with his accustomed dignity, and was deeply touched at the splendid informal ovation, which came with such a degree of spontaneity as to indicate its thorough genuineness.

He had prepared no speech, but was practically forced to make one, and during the course of its delivery he was often loudly cheered. He had not anticipated that there would be any music, but Professor Jandella sprung a happy surprise by having his band on hand, and rendering "Hail to the Chief," "Dixie," and other popular and inspiring airs.

Mr. Alf H. McDowell, clerk to the Council committee, placed a large vase of American Beauties on Captain McCarthy's desk, and this remembrance was greatly appreciated.

The new Mayor said: "The first duty of every man in his private and in his official relations is to prepare his heart to endure whatever may come to him of reproach or of commendation. He should undertake the cool and fearless performance of his duty without reference to the results. Looking always to the strict impartial discharge of that duty, and leaving it with his fellow-citizens to reward or punish him as he may deserve."

A new condition of affairs has begun in Richmond. Things heretofore regarded with indifference or amusement should now be considered from another point of view. The people of Richmond are now awake to the possibility of city government, and they will watch for results from a recent change in personnel.

Not a Mere Machine.
"The city government shall no longer be a mere machine for assessing, collecting and spending taxes, or a useful convenience supplying easy berths for lazy office-holders, but it must be made useful for the advancement of the safety, comfort, prosperity and happiness of the people who pay for its maintenance. If I can make it so, and I am going to try, I shall be able to meet my end with composure as a man going to his reward."
"This is an awakened and intelligent community, and it is going to turn its back on poverty, humiliation and distress and press forward to ever-increasing greatness and blessedness under God's favor."

INVINCIBLE BROWNIES.
Norfolk Cranks Anxious to See Fast Locals Play Ball.

Manager Dalley, of the Brownies, has received a letter from the Norfolk Baseball Club's manager, asking him to make arrangements for a game in that city on Labor Day.

"Norfolk people are anxious to see the Brownies, and there would be a large attendance at the game," said the writer. The arrangement cannot be made, however, as the City League games are scheduled for Broad Street Park on that day.

Indications are that the largest attendance of the season will witness the games at Broad Street Park to-morrow. The contest between the Brownies and the Barton Heights will be practically for the championship. The first game, between Richmond and Manchester, will be for keeps, as the latter team is anxious to beat out Richmond in the race.

GOING TO ST. LOUIS.
Governor and the Blues to Attend the Exposition.

Governor Montague and staff will leave here on September 17th on a special train over the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad for the World's Fair at St. Louis, and the Richmond Light Infantry Band, of this city, and the Stonehill Band, of Staunton, will be an escort to the Governor's party. There will be about 200 in the party, and a great time is anticipated.

The special train will consist of seven cars. A combined car, three tourists, two standard sleepers and a dining car, and will be run on quick schedule in both directions. The Blues will remain in St. Louis about a week; returning, will reach Richmond Monday morning, September 24th. Virginia day is September 24th.

Boyd Sears, of Mathews, Congressman Glass, Flood, and Swanson, Lieutenant-Governor Willard, Judge William Hodges Mann and Hon. Allen Caperton Braxton, of Staunton.

The City Democratic Committee will be convened in the near future to map out plans for the battle and to arrange for the rallies to be held in the various wards.

Speakers for the League.
The devotional meetings of the Epworth League from the Church of the Redeemer, of the month of September will be unusually interesting, as will be apparent from the list of speakers for the five Friday evenings in September: Mr. F. An excursion of four hundred or more people from Rocky Mount, N. C., and intermediate points arrived in the city yesterday via the Atlantic Coast Line, and were met here by the city authorities.

Turning in the evening, there was one coach of colored people, all the rest being white. The excursionists visited the parks and strolled around the streets shopping and sight-seeing. Their presence swelling the receipts of the Passenger and Power Company, and the rest of the day the merchants reaped considerable profit from augmented sales.

Refund Railway Fare.
Leading manufacturers and jobbers, anxious to further extend their trade throughout the South, now offer to refund the railroad fare of any southern merchant whose purchases upon a particular day to Richmond reach amounts sufficient to justify such action. Particulars of this liberal offer may be had by writing the Chamber of Commerce or any of the following leading firms: Southern Manufacturing Company (manufacturers of baking powder), Fleishman, Morris & Co. (shoes), M. Cohen Bros. & Co. (clothing), Drewry Hughes & Co. (dry goods), T. W. Wood (Sons) (seeds), Ayres Rosenzweig (brewery), E. A. Saunders, Sons & Co. Patterson Tobacco Company, Cottrell Saddlery Company, Stephen Putney Shoe Company, Wingo, Elliot & Crump Shoe Company, Richmond Cedar Works, Richmond Stove Works, Richmond Hat Company, Merchants National Bank.

The foregoing concerns are all representative manufacturers and wholesalers in their respective lines. They are wide-awake, progressive establishments, fair in method and liberal in principle. They are making it possible for enterprising southern retail merchants to visit one of the largest and most important cities in the South at the same time secure their stocks of goods at as low or lower prices than they could be bought in any other market, not excluding the great cities of the North.

PROGRESSIVE RICHMOND

Condensed Presentation of What City Is Doing Along Business Lines.

AS A DISTRIBUTING CENTER

Exceptional Advantages Which Are Advancing It So Rapidly.

The Times-Dispatch this morning prints a half-page story of Richmond as a commercial, manufacturing and business center, with figures and facts that will open the eyes, not only of the people of the country generally, but of any citizens of the world who do not appreciate the city's splendid strides in recent years along material lines. The same advertisement appears simultaneously in the daily newspapers of Raleigh, Charlotte, Columbia, Atlanta, Birmingham and the leading Southern cities, and is the first of a series of such stories of the modern Richmond.

The money with which to pay for these advertisements has been contributed by a few public spirited men—men engaged in the commercial, manufacturing and banking business in this city. They have done so through public spirit and pride in the city of Richmond.

It is not too late for other public spirited business men of Richmond to unite in forwarding this movement. They know through the best medium of publicity just what Richmond is. It is not an idle boast, but a mere presentation of indisputable facts which speak eloquently for the city that is sent into thousands of homes and into all the Southern and many other States of the Union.

An Epitome of Progress.
Richmond is moving by rapid strides to the leadership in commercial circles of the South. With $24,142,465 invested in manufacturing, the value of her output last year amounted to $26,426,117. There are now about 1,300 concerns engaged in the manufacture of various articles and employing about 30,000 hands. The wholesale and jobbing trade of the city amounted, in 1903, to $18,409,783, the actual capital invested aggregating $10,423,900.

It is the largest tobacco manufacturing center in the South; it has the only locomotive works in the South, a large ship-building plant, the largest fertilizer company in the country, the largest paper mill and the largest paper box factory in the South, probably the largest baking powder factory in the country, the largest publishing house in the South and the largest wooden ware factory in the world. In addition to these concerns, the manufacturing and jobbing establishments represent every line of merchandise, and many of the firms are well known to the entire country.

The exceptional advantages enjoyed by Richmond as a distributing center make it a convenient and attractive market for retail merchants—particularly those of the South. Its seven great railroads, with a total mileage of 27,614 miles, traverse the States of Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Ohio, as well as many northern and eastern States. Its steamship lines give Richmond an advantage of lowest competitive freight rates on all lines.

AT THE THEATRES

Mr. Tim Murphy appeared at the Academy last night in his new piece, "Two Men and a Girl." The comedy is well adapted to the quiet method of the quaint Tim Murphy, about whose work there is always something to remind one of the old-time comedy. It is a well-constructed piece, though it has some few faults. For a quiet play, as this pretends to be, the climax of the second act is too melodramatic. It is not in harmony with the other scenes, for it descends almost to the level of a farce play. The character of Harold Crosby is a little out of drawing. He is too much of a cad, and as played by Mr. Macey Barium, with his John Dreyer mustache, he is made even more of a cad than the author intended.

There are some delightfully humorous situations in the comedy and some very pretty lines. In this piece Miss Dorothy Sherrod does not play opposite Mr. Murphy. She is cast as Julia Whitney, a part that suits her very well. Miss Gertrude Dalton made a sweet and convincing play. "Emily," her work making a very good impression. Miss Louise Whitfield played Jess Lorrimer with a sprightly and altogether charming Mr. Olney Griffin, as "Piper," did a splendid bit of character work. The comedy is a valuable and a good performance is given.

The comedy will be repeated to-night. The company has not yet gotten up in the other place, which it was announced would be played here the second night of the engagement.

"Faust" at the Casino.
"Faust" is a pretty heavy subject for the Casino, and the wonder is that the Imperial Opera Company, which played it there last night, got away with it. It is again to-night and to-morrow night, and no doubt the same large audiences will be there. Practically no scenery, and the opera is very much cut. Some of the best parts being omitted, but in a general way it may be said that the singers do very well considering that those who have not heard "Faust" may gather from the performance some idea of the opera.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Valentine, and Miss Pauline Johnson, as Marguerite, received the applause of the evening.

OBSERVING THE LAW.
City Employees Retiring From Democratic Committee.

In accordance with the provisions of the Masurier ordinance which prohibits city officials and employees from serving on party committees, the following gentlemen notified the city that they have sent in their resignations to Chairman Doherty, as members of the City Democratic Committee: Messrs. John L. Man and Mr. Wood, of Jackson Ward (now Madison); J. W. Woodward, of Marshall; and E. J. Fagan, of Jefferson.

The ordinance became effective on yesterday, and other resignations are expected. If the two Police Commissioners who are members—Messrs. Manning and Duke—shall hold to their intention to remain in both bodies, the constitutionality of the ordinance may be tested. The ordinance is the most valuable reforms adopted by the outgoing Council.

POLICE PATROL SYSTEM.
Apparatus Has Been Installed and Work Going on Satisfactorily.

The new patrol system is now in complete operation in this city. The apparatus has been installed by City Electrician W. H. Thompson.

The first station will be in charge of Sergeant Oley, Major Howard will have control of the department, with headquarters at the first station.

Until the new patrol system is in full operation, the second station will be in charge of this station. The first station will be in charge of this station. The first station will be in charge of this station.

Petition in Bankruptcy.
A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday by John R. Smith, of the Richmond Va. by Smith, Monrore & Gordon, attorneys. The liabilities of the bankrupt aggregate $3,977.61, consisting chiefly of open accounts, notes and borrowed money. The total assets are $538.00.

Was Dead Against Him.
Walter Gardner, colored, was charged with taking 50 cents from little Kate Bannister. The little girl, in company with her mother, went to a laundry and carried the money in her hand. The negro is alleged to have snatched the silver piece and made off. He was arrested later from description, and was identified by Justice John yesterday morning.

The negro denied knowing anything about the affair, but he was required to give ninety days' security.

What Did the Woggle Bug Say?

Every reader of The Times-Dispatch will find himself or herself puzzling over this perplexing question after he has read the page in the Magazine Section devoted to the doings of the "Queer Visitors From the Marvelous Land of Oz."

The Woggle Bug, wise man of the party, undertakes to answer all questions for his comrades from Oz. He has to answer one each week. His answer is not printed. The reader is left to discover it. The pictures and descriptive matter make this comparatively easy in the active mind. Both the pictures and the story are guides to the solution of the problem, and the question admits of but one correct answer. The puzzles require only ordinary skill and knowledge of facts included in history, geography, botany and natural history, or an acquaintance with places, buildings or emblems about which information is easily obtainable. It is not a guessing contest, but a trial of skill.

To stimulate interest in the visit of the people from the Land of Oz, The Times-Dispatch will give Twenty Dollars in cash each month to those of its readers who send in correct or nearly correct answers to the questions put to the Woggle Bug by his companions.
